The “3rd World Conference for the Peace and Prosperity of the Nations”, under the sponsorship of the European Union, has been summoned by “Man Centre”, a non-profit association with branches in all continents. The Conference will be held in Arezzo, Italy, on May 28-29, 2005, in the fifteenth-century Monastery of Sargliano, where Pope John XXIII stayed. The “Art, Science and Peace” Prize for 2005 will be awarded to a personality who has distinguished him/herself by his/her work for peace in those fields.

World peace, understanding between the different cultures, help to underdeveloped nations, and environmental protection are the fundamental aims of “Man Centre”, whose Chairman, Dr. Pier Franco Marcenaro (see photo), has spoken in auditoriums of many countries. He is the author of works translated into ten languages and in 2003 was awarded with the “Messenger of Peace” International Award.
